01:09:15 Shawn Nichols Nichols: Spreading the knowledge!

01:10:13 Cameron Stewart: So much education needed for Doctors for sure. The ECS is simply not taught in traditional medicine. That needs to change as does the acceptance of more plant based medicines, especially in western culture.

01:10:38 Jared Ler'che: The doctors definitely need a valid source for knowing how to properly diagnose and treat.

01:11:05 Gaetano Lardieri: Yes DDI's are very important!

01:40:46 Cameron Stewart: Disaster for cultivation companies...GOLD for Extractors!

01:40:58 Gaetano Lardieri: try maintaining consistency in scale uP not easy!

01:40:59 Jared Ler'che: That is a good way to look at it.

01:41:23 Chad Cellana: That's why flower prices are so high

01:41:26 Cameron Stewart: I can buy tonnage at 1/10th the production cost - massive glut in Canada supply chain.

01:41:49 Gaetano Lardieri: More Biomass exists than people realize

01:41:58 Jared Ler'che: Turn it into liquid gold with ekstraktLAB equipment www.extraktLAB.com

01:42:23 Chad Cellana: 60%-40% flower - trim ration

01:42:50 Jared Ler'che: Like literal biomass?

01:43:27 Cameron Stewart: high quality LP "larf" lol

01:50:10 Jon Thompson: David is right on the money. Really great insight.

01:50:31 Shawn Nichols Nichols: Agreed

01:53:00 Gaetano Lardieri: @Jon what is the carbon footprint to process 5 tons of BioMass per day?

01:53:54 Gaetano Lardieri: SynBio is even bigger than regular Biotech $4Trillion space

01:54:04 Dr. David of UCS Advisors: athletes for care is a great organization

01:54:43 Gaetano Lardieri: @jon what do you or what is considered very small? how about a process that is next to zero?

01:55:03 Jon Thompson: Yes...that's our process... check our podcast.

01:55:28 Gaetano Lardieri: well if you have to even put the lights on to run the place that counts too lol

01:55:33 Jon Thompson: great job David.

01:55:44 Shawn Nichols Nichols: Awesome work!

01:56:24 Jared Ler'che: Another great talk David.

01:57:25 Joan Samuels: Congrats !!! Joan - HempStaff.

01:59:13 Cameron Stewart: Your system is Co2 or Etoh?

02:01:19 Mark Van Jones: Cameron are you with Vertosa?

02:03:20 Mark Van Jones: You mentioned Nano Extraction and I saw a different webinar with Austin Stevenson from Vertosa that had patented Nano Extraction

02:06:43 Jared Ler'che: extraktLAB manufactures CO2 extraction systems.

02:11:47 Jeffrey Stein: Regulation A+ & Listing on Cyprus Emerging Companies Exchange. Doing it myself. email for info: ilclegal@lawyer.com

02:15:08 Dave Gambaccini, CCIM: I'm Principal with Xcel Capital Partners and we're raising private equity for a California, cultivation facility: partial indoor, partial outdoor growing. We're also raising private equity for a Massachusetts indoor cultivation facility. There are tremendous differences in these markets, how do cannabis investors feel about these markets? It seems California is saturated and challenging with any outdoor grow, whereas, Massachusetts seems well-positioned, at $4,000/lb and all indoor, controlled growing. Thoughts? www.xcelcapitalpartners.com Dave Gambaccini dave@xcelcapitalpartners.com

02:16:09 Mark Van Jones: Ok Cameron, hello, I am an American with decades of XP engineering and managing cannabis farms. I have been recruited to work with a Jamaican company called Collie Heights that expects to get licensed for both production and processing by August. They are focused on CO2 extraction, and I'm looking into Nano extraction for them, and also for a company that can develop their recipes for gummies, lozenges, edibles, drinks etc.

02:17:15 Mark Van Jones: We have a partner in Vancouver we should be able to send to see what you have going on at some point Cameron

02:18:14 Mark Van Jones: My email is fromthechrysalis@aol.com

02:18:40 Cameron Stewart: No Vertosa is utilizing Ultrasonic I believe. Minor leagues. Our patent covers the use of Ultrasonic but most importantly our use on Hydrodynamic Cavitation. I'll email you thank you.

02:19:49 Mark Van Jones: Tyvm

02:21:09 Cameron Stewart: Why Co2 though? What is your winterization process? Ethanol? ;)

02:23:20 Jared Ler'che: CO2 is the gold standard for high quality extracts.

02:24:06 Jared Ler'che: Consumers shouldn't have to worry if someone used denatured ethanol to save money.

02:24:26 Cameron Stewart: Not within the Cannabis or actual botanical biopharma world. It's big expensive and lacks mass transfer rates. Our system outprocess Co2 by 8:1

02:25:01 Jared Ler'che: Are you saying it pulls 8x as much material?

02:25:23 Jared Ler'che: What system do you use?

02:26:09 Jared Ler'che: Here is an article on denatured ethanol in the cannabis/hemp industries <https://extraktlab.com/denatured-ethanol-questions-without-answers/>

02:26:15 Cameron Stewart: Our own patented systems. We don't sell our systems. We're utilizing them in key global locations.

02:26:32 Cameron Stewart: Yes our mass transfer rate is roughly 8:1

02:27:13 Cameron Stewart: We have over 40 years in Botanical & Biopharma extraction systems we've done dozens of Co2's over the years for various projects but most do Etoh.

02:27:43 Mark Van Jones: Cameron, supercritical CO2 is currently BII, potentially solvent less and the choice of my business partners. I engineer and manage everything else. I am merely enquiring about the brand new technology of Nano extraction on their behalf so they can consider the merits. What is the name of your company again?

02:28:55 Jared Ler'che: Sounds suspect. Where can we see find more information about this?

02:28:56 Cameron Stewart: Cavitec/Full Spectrum Extraction Technologies

02:29:30 Mark Van Jones: Ty, I look forward to your email

02:30:14 Jared Ler'che: I can't find any information about our company. Can you post a link?

02:30:16 Cameron Stewart: I could understand the scepticism as it's obviously disruptive technology. We have scalable systems for our Zimbabwe location for 125,000 lbs. per day. It's a five line system.

02:31:48 Mark Van Jones: I worked for Xtractor Depot in Commerce CA building their closed loop systems, so I have a bit of acumen even though I work on the production side.

02:32:26 Cameron Stewart: Jared, it's not up yet and we aren't publicly announcing ourselves like that just yet. We are in pre-revenue stage as we await our Canadian licensing and a few JV agreements we're sorting through. We turned down several speaking engagements to keep this as best underwraps as possible while we waited on our patents. Far too many rip off artists in Cannabis unfortunately.

02:33:00 RANDY WHITE: Sales and Marketing Intern at <https://cannigma.com/>
<https://www.linkedin.com/in/randywhite/>

02:34:27 Zoe Mattioli: Terpli!!! 🍌🍌🍌🍌🍌🍌

02:36:26 Carolina Souza: Yess Peter!!

02:37:06 Jared Ler'che: True. There are a lot of people scamming in cannabis industry. With what you are saying there should be some easily verifiable information people can look at to evaluate the claim of 8:1 mass transfer.

02:40:10 Cameron Stewart: We're probably not going to release any of that direct testing. This is our estimate. Again, we don't sell systems. We utilize our technology and it's mass transfer scalability for our own locations Globally. Example I helped implement Medical Cannabis in Zimbabwe and have roughly 5000 Hectares of Cultivation Space. Our systems aren't skid systems our smallest one we're building is a 300L system for Canada which will process 600Kg per day. Zimbabwe will do 125,000 kg per day.

02:40:34 Carolina Souza: Yess Fight On!

02:41:37 Zoe Mattioli: Thank you peter!!

02:41:46 Jon Thompson: well done peter

02:41:56 Jared Ler'che: Great job Peter.

02:41:59 Carolina Souza: Congratulations!

02:43:47 Alexander Jahani: Thank you Peter!

02:44:16 Peter Kasper - Terpli: Thank you audience for listening and all the support!

02:45:51 Cameron Stewart: Jared, perhaps you might be interested in licensing our tech. for your equipment (Co2) applied under sub-critical it will triple your systems output capacity.

02:46:28 Dr. Kenneth Gustin, Ph.D.: Hello Everyone,

Great session, thank you all!

Feel free to reach out and connect.

02:48:03 Jared Ler'che: ekstraktLAB also offers free Hemp Education courses to help take your industry knowledge further <https://extraktlab.com/courses/>

02:49:08 Carol Ortega Algarra: Carol Ortega carol@muisacag.com thank you all for being here today. Great event!

02:49:27 Jared Ler'che: ekstraktLAB machines are able to run using cosolvents. The issue is many are not wanting to introduce ethanol into their products if they don't have too. The denatured ethanol extractors messed that one up.

02:50:11 Jared Ler'che: Plus ethanol requires a lot of energy to be created. CO2 is the by product of many different industries.

02:50:30 Mark Van Jones: Cameron your business story is fascinating. There might be some synergy with our company Collie Heights, although it sounds like you are really a seed-to-sale company interested in growth capital. I may have an opportunity we can discuss in the Caribbean

02:51:37 Peter Kasper - Terpli: Peter Kasper

pkasper@terpli.io (terpli.io)

Thanks everybody for tuning in - I'm eager to connect with investors and partners so please reach out if interested!

02:53:38 Cameron Stewart: What island, I'm meeting with a group for Extraction JV in Jamaica and I was one of 14 companies awarded licensing in Saint Vincent & The Grenadines. I'm ALWAYS interested in Caribbean ventures! lol

02:54:08 Rani Gupta: Thanks for the invite. I'm into deep-tech, space defense, cyber AI. Looking for angel investors. <http://www.linkedin.com/in/ranigupta1>. rani.gupta@weaponx.com. Still in stealth mode. We have all US security clearances and alliances globally.

03:02:52 Erik Maguina: Rani. MY partners and I are presently making a merge of Hemp fibers to our patented Bio-polymer. there is a possible opportunity to collaborate these new materials with you. Our Bio-polymer is a standard lone tech and very interesting for defense opportunities.

03:02:59 Erik Maguina: <https://www.linkedin.com/in/erikmaguina/>

03:05:35 Jared Ler'che: We also have an Advanced Extraction Guide for those that are a little more advanced. <https://extraktlab.com/advanced-extraction-guide/>

03:08:15 Mark Van Jones: We'll be licensed in Jamaica around August. I'm putting together my equipment lists now to get everything through customs on time. We'll be building the first organic soil company because, you know, Jamaica is all red clay. Hot composter tumblers, vermicompost, super soil inputs... the agronomy path. My partners have already won major cannabis cups with their own strains they failed to trademark, so we will be replicating that but trademarked this time, and have already inked deals with Hendrix and Humboldt Seeds to develop our strains.

03:09:29 Joan Samuels: Great pitches so far, Thanks Joan - HempStaff.

03:14:04 Erik Maguina: Mark. Are you growing ? My bio-stimulant will help any growing operations by the way

03:16:01 Erik Maguina: not yet

03:16:37 Erik Maguina: it is Bio-certified by the USDA. at 69% bio certification. No chemicals. Just algae and carbon.

03:16:45 Erik Maguina: 68% sorry

03:17:05 Joan Samuels: We can assist with those hires, contact me at Joan@HempStaff.com.

In terms of breeding, you'll have lots of amazing opportunities with some legendary jamaican strains. Which to me is the future of Flower. I'm a sucker for a great landrace especially if one day you can buy it globally. Thai stick anyone?

04:12:27 Mark Van Jones: Cameron, yes let's talk. I just watched Arjan Roskam's strain hunter show in Jamaica sussing out local strains. The landrace strains are mostly hybrids with Europe and American but also South American strains. My partners created Jamaican Lion and Lion Tabernacle and other famous Jamaica strains that have already won major cups. I personally would be delighted if they would allow me to outsource the extraction to a JV partner, so we can concentrate on production, dispensaries and soil production/remediation. That would be a hard sell to them but they will listen
